LOVE'S SWEET PIFFLE.

By Mack Sennett

Love runs some weddings-- and some weddings run love right out of the window. This is a situation in which the principals find themselves in a new Mack Sennett comedy, LOVE'S SWEET PIFFLE.

But just as Cupid is taking wing, out the window, he is captured and held a prisoner in a series of funny situations involving an aeroplane smashup in the wilds of Arizona. A few Indians thrown in make it increasingly difficult for Cupid to continue on good terms with the couple involved, but they cling to him desperately and peace reigns in the final "clinch."

Ralph Graves is the well-meaning lover who gets his sweetheart into a series of scraps, with Tiny Ward, the giant, and Vernon Dent, the girl's irate parent, making it no easier for them. Yorke Sherwood is also in the cast, and the picture was directed by Ed Kennedy.
